Color Additives: The color additives used in food, drugs, and cosmetics for use in the United States as listed by the Food and Drug Administration (list attached), as well as those additives approved for use in Europe as listed by the European Community (list attached). If the color additive is used in a system (e.g., a coating system containing a lake), the value of the color additive in the system should be included.

Sales: The sale of color additives as marketed by the corporate entity that is the member of IACM, among the countries that have ratified the North American Free Trade Agreement (United States, Canada, Mexico). This definition includes sales of color additives in food, drugs, and cosmetics. Use sales during your company's last fiscal year as your frame of reference. Sales of titanium dioxide and caramel should be excluded from your calculation.

Once you have determined the amount of sales of color additives by your company, please check the appropriate box below. This information will be held confidential.
